Total Expense Ratio, Transaction Costs & Total Investment Charge

Total Expense Ratio (TER): This shows the charges, levies and fees relating to the management of the portfolio and is expressed as a percentage of the average net asset value of the portfolio, calculated over a rolling three years (where applicable) and annualised to the most recently completed quarter. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER cannot be regarded as an indication of future TERs.

Transaction Costs (TC): The percentage of the value of the fund as costs relating to the buying and selling of the Fund's underlying assets. Transaction costs are a necessary cost in administering the Fund and impacts fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of Fund, investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

Total Investment Charges (TIC): The percentage of the value of the Fund incurred as costs, relating to the investment of the Fund. As fund returns are reported after deducting all fees and expenses, these costs (the TER & TC) should not be deducted from the fund returns. It is the sum of the TC & TER.

Statutory Disclosure and General Terms & Conditions

Collective investment schemes in securities are generally medium to long-term investments. The value of participatory interests may go down as well as up and investors may get back less cash than originally invested. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. An investment in the participations of a collective investment scheme in securities is not the same as a deposit with a banking institution. Fluctuations or movements in exchange rates may cause the value of underlying international investments to go up or down. Participatory interest prices are calculated on a net asset value basis, which is the total value of all assets less liabilities in the Class Funds including any provisions made for any purchase, fiscal or other charges that would have been incurred had all the assets of the relevant class fund been bought or sold at that time, divided by the number of participatory interests in issue. Please refer to the prospectus for more details on the charges and expenses that may be recovered from the Class Funds. Participatory interests are priced daily using the forward pricing method. The Class Funds may borrow up to 10% of the market value of the Class Funds to bridge insufficient liquidity as a result of the redemption of participatory interests. Collective investment schemes are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending.

A schedule of fees and charges and maximum commissions is available on request from STANLIB Fund Managers Jersey Limited, ("the Manager"). The Class Funds of the STANLIB Offshore Unit Trusts scheme, are Feeder Funds which only invest in the participatory interests of a single Class Fund of a collective investment scheme. Commission and incentives may be paid and if so, are included in the overall costs. The Class Funds of STANLIB Offshore Unit Trusts scheme are accumulation Class Funds and do not distribute income. Fund Commentary: 4th Quarter

Market Background

European equities delivered gains in the fourth quarter, capping a strong year. The portfolio's benchmark index rose by 5.8% in euro terms, bringing the total gain for 2019 to 26.9%. Ireland, Sweden and Denmark led the quarter's outperforming markets. In sector terms, industrials, real estate and consumer discretionary delivered the best returns. Laggards included communication services and consumer staples – these are both relatively defensive sectors. Markets were supported by a relaxation of US-China trade tensions, by some encouraging corporate results, and by another US interest rate cut – the third such reduction this year. Phase one of a US-Sino trade agreement is due to be signed in January 2020, while a key measure of global manufacturing activity returned to expansionary territory in November. The UK prime minister negotiated a revised Brexit deal with the EU and then called a general election to strengthen his hand in parliament. UK shares advanced as the ruling Conservatives won a decisive victory in the election, and MPs subsequently approved the prime minister's EU withdrawal deal. As a result, the country is set to leave the EU on 31 January 2020. Spain's fourth general election in as many years resulted in a fragile left-wing coalition. Third-quarter GDP growth was subdued at 0.2% for the eurozone region, and Germany's economy only narrowly avoided recession. German industrial output plunged in October, while protests in France against proposed pension reforms disrupted transport and public services. More positively, eurozone inflation strengthened, a sign that the region's economy may be stabilising after a downturn, and December's widely watched ZEW index of German economic sentiment was stronger than predicted.

Performance

The portfolio outperformed its benchmark index on a gross basis over the quarter, boosted by successful stock selection. Geographical and sector positioning added value too. Positive relative contributors included Sika and Persimmon. Sika (speciality chemicals) delivered strong results and achieved record sales and profits. Several recent acquisitions have contributed to growth momentum. House builder Persimmon rose amid strength in domestically-focused UK stocks, which were buoyed by the Conservatives' election victory and diminished Brexit uncertainty. Detractors included Ubisoft Entertainment - reviews of Ghost Recon Breakpoint have been disappointing, leading to reduced earnings guidance, and the company has deferred the release of three other video games.

Outlook

Loose monetary policy aims to stimulate economic growth and, if effective, this should revive corporate profitability. Weakness is mainly evident in European manufacturing, while the consumer sector remains reasonably buoyant. The UK election result makes Brexit likely, but terms have yet to be negotiated and there will be uncertainty while this takes place. In Spain, the new left-wing coalition is tenuous. Tensions with Iran and over global trade are unhelpful, but any positive resolution is likely to boost market sentiment. While global growth has been downgraded, fiscal stimulus in China is expected to help, and the US is likely to ensure recession is avoided in the run up to the 2020 elections. Our main focus in managing this portfolio is on stock selection, informed by macroeconomic and thematic views. We favour companies that have a competitive advantage and pricing power generated by brands, patented processes, regulatory barriers to entry and strong market positions.
